INTRO TO TAB · Q & A

Common questions about Tab

The questions people ask most, with short, simple answers.

Is Tab an app?

No app to learn. You text Tab on WhatsApp or iMessage, just like texting a friend. Type, or send a voice note, in English or Hebrew.

Do I need to set up separate "agents"?

No. Tab is the agent: one assistant that does it all. It can even work on several jobs at once in the background, while you get on with your day.

Can it check my email and calendar and remind me of appointments?

Yes. Connect your email and calendar once. Tab can remind you before appointments, send a morning summary of your day, and draft replies. It asks you before sending anything for you.

Can it set things up for me, like events or meetups?

Yes. It can find events, RSVP, add them to your calendar, and even make a phone call to book or change an appointment.

How is it different from other AI tools?

Most "agent" tools are something you have to build, set up and babysit. Tab has its own computer, browser and phone, remembers your preferences, and you just text it.

Can it make long videos?

Yes. Tab makes full, finished videos and does all the stitching for you. No piecing short clips together yourself.

What if it gets something wrong?

Just say so, in your own words: "Make it bigger." "Change the color." Tab fixes it. Asking for changes is part of the fun.

Is my information private?

Your conversations are encrypted in transit and at rest. They are not used to train models, and nobody browses them.

How do I start?

1. Scan or tap
   Point your phone camera at the code, or tap the link.
2. Sign up
   With your phone number. Save Tab in your contacts.
3. Say hi!
   "Hi Tab! I teach 3rd grade."

tab.bot/r/E29AD38F02E0A2DA